Emergency calls About emergency calls Your BlackBerry® device is designed to make emergency calls even when it is locked. If the connection to the wireless network is turned off when you initiate an emergency call, your device is designed to connect to the wireless network automatically.

You can only make emergency calls by typing official emergency access numbers (for example, 911 in North America or 112 in countries that are part of the European Union). About Emergency Callback Mode When you end an emergency call, the BlackBerry® device enters Emergency Callback Mode. This mode enables the operator to call you back or determine your approximate location. Depending on your service provider, Emergency Callback Mode is active for five minutes or is canceled when you make a non-emergency call. In Emergency Callback Mode, you cannot send and receive messages or browse web pages. Your device exits Emergency Callback Mode at any time if you make a non-emergency call. About assisted GPS support Your BlackBerry® device is designed to support assisted GPS when your device is connected to a CDMA network. If you make an emergency call or your device is in Emergency Callback Mode, an emergency operator might be able to use assisted GPS technology to estimate your location. Note: In an emergency, always provide the emergency operator with as much information as possible. Emergency operators might not be able to estimate your location using only assisted GPS technology.

21 Make an emergency call · If your keyboard or BlackBerry® device is unlocked, in the phone, type the emergency number. Press the Send key. · If your keyboard or device is locked, press the Enter key. Click Emergency Call. Click Yes.
